Dear Ms. Johnson-Frick,

I write to urge you to visit Big Sky, Montana to meet with postal customers in that community and assess the local contracted United States Postal Service (USPS) facility.

The current facility has served Big Sky well for the past 20 years, but the tremendous growth in the community, particularly since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic, is starting to degrade postal service at the current site. I am hearing from postal customers in Big Sky that a bigger location may be necessary. A visit from USPS leadership to assess the site would help determine if this is the best path forward.

I appreciate the support USPS recently provided the Big Sky community by increasing the local contract rate to reflect the growth in population. Thank you for your consideration of a site visit.

Sincerely,

Jon Tester
