How do I attend an Academy?

Admission to an Academy is a competitive two-step process:

Step 1: Obtain a Congressional or Presidential nomination

Step 2: Receive an appointment from the Academy

What is a nomination?

A nomination is made by an authorized source, under Title 10 of the U.S. Code. Congressional nominations include selections made by 1) the Vice President, who nominates candidates from any state or district in the nation, 2) U.S. Senators, who nominate candidates residing within their state and 3) from U.S. Representatives, who nominate candidates that reside within their congressional district.

Each candidate is eligible for up to four congressional nominations. Because the nomination and appointment process is highly competitive, you are highly encouraged to apply for all the nominations for which you are eligible. In Montana, this a nomination from:

- Vice President Kamala Harris
- U.S. Senator Jon Tester
- U.S. Senator Steve Daines
- U.S. Representative Matt Rosendale

Each of Montana's congressional offices has a different nomination process. For more details, visit Senator Tester's website here, Senator Daines' website here, and Representative Rosendale's office here.

Your participation in athletic and non-athletic extracurricular activities will help demonstrate your versatility, responsibility, and ability to meet the physical, time-management, and leadership demands of a service Academy. Maintaining the highest level of physical fitness at the high school level will benefit your application, as physical exercise is integral to everyday life at an Academy.
